Tim Ralphs

How to Spin Enchantment

Tim Ralphs offers up a selection of stories from Basile's 17th century Neapolitan collection: The Pentamerone. This is a most lyrical, characterful and hysterical fairytales ever roused from their inky sleep on the page and offered up for performance. Seven Godmothers, a sleeping Prince, a weeping girl and an enchanted doll that makes its owner crave more stories.

Sef Townsend

"The Pongo's Dream"

An evening of tales from that 'other', often overlooked, América - from the deserts, and mountains; from ast plains, and from islands at the end of the earth. These are the stories of the people who disappeared from the land, the secret stories of those who survived, and of those now inhabiting all corners of this remarkable world. They are accompanied by the captivating rhythms of the Tango, Cueca and Chacarera from Iñigo Mikeleiz Berrade on Button Accordion.

Storytelling is one of the oldest forms of entertainment in the world and is also the way societies hand down their histories and values from one generation to the next. It is currently enjoying a revival, thanks to a renewed interest in the folk arts which also include music, song and dance.

We meet once a month for an evening of stories. The stories are for adults and young people 14+, and there is usually an open floor session in addition to guest tellers.

There is a break for refreshments and homemade cakes

Anyone with a story can tell, however but no reading aloud allowed.
